FIRST / THE FOUNDATIONS

Start with these essentials

Not everything applies to every household. Check only what fits your situation.

Your identity & household

- [ ] Government-issued photo ID for you (and your spouse, if applicable).
- [ ] Correct legal names, birth dates, and SSN/ITIN records for everyone listed.
- [ ] Any IRS Identity Protection PIN notice for you, spouse, or dependents.
- [ ] Your prior-year tax return, if available.
- [ ] Current contact address and any IRS or state tax letters.
- [ ] Bank routing and account details for deposit or payment (share securely).
- [ ] If filing jointly, plan for both spouses to review and sign as required.

Income from every source

- [ ] All Forms W-2 from jobs you held during 2026.
- [ ] Forms 1099-INT, 1099-DIV, or other investment statements, if received.
- [ ] Forms 1099-R and SSA-1099 for retirement/Social Security, if applicable.
- [ ] Forms 1099-G for unemployment or other government payments, if any.
- [ ] Records of side work, cash earnings, or tips not shown on a W-2.
- [ ] Any Forms 1099-NEC, 1099-MISC, 1099-K, or other income statements.
- [ ] Records of digital asset transactions, if applicable.

GOOD TO KNOW

A form is not the only proof that income exists. If you had earnings from tips, gig work, or another source, bring the records even if no tax form arrived.

SECOND / WHAT CHANGED

Family, credits & deductions

Gather support for situations that could affect your return. Eligibility is determined from the full facts.

Children & household

- [ ] Dependent names and birth dates; keep identifying numbers in secure records.
- [ ] Custody/residency information if a child lived in more than one home.
- [ ] Relevant divorce/separation or dependent-claim agreements, if applicable.
- [ ] Childcare amounts paid and provider name/address/tax identification.
- [ ] Documentation for education costs and Form 1098-T, if applicable.
- [ ] Forms 1095-A for Health Insurance Marketplace coverage, if applicable.

Possible tax benefit records

- [ ] Form 1098 for mortgage interest and property tax records, if applicable.
- [ ] Charitable donation documentation and qualifying medical receipts, if itemizing.
- [ ] Form 1098-E for student loan interest, if received.
- [ ] HSA records or Forms 1099-SA/5498-SA, if applicable.
- [ ] Retirement contribution records and eligible education expenses.
- [ ] Records of qualified tips, overtime, or qualifying vehicle-loan interest, if applicable.

TELL YOUR PREPARER IF...

You married, divorced, separated, welcomed a child, changed custody arrangements, moved, went to school, bought a home, or changed health coverage during 2026. These facts may affect filing choices.

THIRD / LAST LOOK

Before you hand it over

A final check now can save an extra round of questions later.

My ready-to-file check

- [ ] I have reviewed every job and income source for 2026.
- [ ] I have the relevant tax forms or records for each source.
- [ ] I have gathered dependent and household information securely.
- [ ] I have identified any major changes during the year.
- [ ] I have checked for Marketplace Form 1095-A, if applicable.
- [ ] I have set aside records supporting deductions or credits I want reviewed.
- [ ] I will use the preparer's approved secure process for personal tax information.
